OLIVE NAVIGATES THE COMPLEXITIES of friendships with humor and heart in this engaging graphic novel series.

In the newest book, Act, Olive finds out that a school policy is keeping some of her sixth grade classmates from attending a field trip, so she decides to run for student council to effect change. But two of her friends are also running and the class is divided on which candidate to support. Can Olive make a difference and keep her friends?

DRAW OLIVE

Graphic novels rely on illustrations to convey characters' emotions. Compare the drawings of Olive from Act and notice what elements help to show how Olive is feeling. Try your hand at drawing the many faces of Olive.

PROBLEM SOLVING

Olive is upset that kids who can't afford the field trip have to stay behind, that her school dress code is unclear, that homework scheduling is unbalanced, and that students' grades aren't kept private. Think of a problem at your school. In the first four panels below, create a comic to explain the problem. In the final panel, offer a possible solution.

HELLO, CAMPER!

In Camp, Olive and Willow go to summer camp and meet lots of new girls in their Bunny Bunk cabin. Pretend you are a Bunny Bunker! Draw yourself in the last panel and include your name and your favorite hobby or school subject, what you want to be when you grow up, or a random fact about yourself in a speech bubble.

PRESENTING ...

In Click, Olive is the host of the fifth grade variety show! How will she introduce the acts pictured below?
